Have We Gone Land Crazy?

In an address before one of the evening meetings of the recent farmers convention at the Manitoba Agricultural College, Mrs. McClung said: "The great trouble here in the west is that the farmers are all land crazy, and what is the result? Every last one of you has bitten off more than you can chew." For a moment the audience were very much inclined to take this statement of Mrs. McClung's as one of her clever witcisms until they realized that, all joking had been put aside for the time being, and that the speaker meant what she said. Just because the big tract or has made it possible to prepare a quarter section in three days is no argument why a man, and the woman too, should strain every nerve and energy to possess more and more land and grow more and more grain than they can possibly harvest. That is neither economy or good sense.

A small farm, well cultivated, is worth two big, half-cared-for, weedy ones. Perhaps this land grabbing fever is not the worst malady the west needs to find a cure for, but it is a serious condition that is very apt to retard the healthy development of our best farming districts. We are very much inclined to agree with Mrs. McClung on the land subject, and if the money which is paid out to acquire more acres was spent on making a home worth living in, it would be a great deal better for the community, and indeed the whole nation. There is nothing like the contentment which being thankful for, and satisfied with a reasonable amount of this world's goods brings.—Country Life in Canada.

Going After the Combine

The Western Canada Trade Gazette in its present issue has further particulars on the great competition among the wheat and grain companies of that city, a subject in which the merchants in all surrounding towns and cities are interested, since they would also be affected by any understanding amongst the wholesalers regarding wheat.

The retailers of the city have taken a number of meetings and discussing the question thoroughly, they decided by resolution to give their support to the one independent company. It is also understood that the California fruit exchange is in the same arrangement.

The latest developments in the situation are given in the April 1st issue, which as well contains a number of articles of more than passing interest to western retailers.

Size of Alberta

Few people outside the province of Alberta have an adequate idea of its vast size. To get such an idea must conceive of Canada, with its 3,745,000 square miles of territory, larger than the continent of Europe or the whole of the United States. Then one must think of the provinces of Canada, lusty young nations greater in size and as rich in natural resources as the great nations of the old world. Alberta is larger than any state in the United States except Texas. It is within a few hundred square miles as large as the combined areas of California, Oregon and Washington, or the combined areas of Montana, North Dakota and Minnesota. It is larger than Germany, France and Austria-Hungary, and has larger proportionate area of agricultural land.

My little son had a very severe cold. I was recommended to try Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and before a small bottle was finished he was as well as ever," writes Mrs. H. Silks, 29 Dowling street, Sydney, Australia. This remedy is for sale by all dealers.

Camp for Teachers

A six weeks' course in physical and military training for teachers will be given in Calgary this year, beginning during the 1st week of July.

In order that the teachers will have the opportunity of observing cadet corps in training the cadets of the district will also go into camp for a few days during the first week of the teachers' course.

The teachers will receive pay at the rate of $1 per day and in addition will receive rations at the regular rate and quantity as is supplied to the troops under canvas. Formerly a subsistence allowance of $1 per day was given, but this year the rations will be allowed in lieu of the monetary allowance. The usual blankets will be provided but it will be optional with teachers to provide cots for themselves.

As the number is strictly limited to fifty teachers, those desirous of taking advantage of the course should forward their applications immediately, either to Col. E. A. Crackshank, district officer commanding at Calgary, or to D. S. Mackenzie, deputy minister of education Edmonton.

What made you so late?" "I met Smithson."

"Well, that is no reason why you should be an hour late getting home to supper."

"I know, but I asked him how he was feeling, and he insisted on telling me about his stomach trouble."

"Did you tell him to take Chamberlain's Tablets?"

"Sure, that is what he needs."

"They are not shown to visitors, but if that is all you are staying for, you shall see them, for I will show you over them. I rent this place. My name is Lady Anne Daubeny."

"I know."

"How do you know?"
"On my way down I met in the train a man who told me of you."

"You know me," she retorted.
"It must have been some nonsense invented by sensational newspapers which he told you. I have no friends or relatives in this country."

He marvelled and felt saddle-drawn at the profound isolation of her words. He feared beyond measure taking her train, but he had no further personal experiences. He had told her the name of his informant, Leopold Sarto.

She shook her head indifferently.
"I have never heard of him," she remarked. "What did this person say of me?"

"Only that he had danced with you at a ball, and that he admired you very much."

"Oh, a ball! Then it must have been years ago. I may have met such a person. I do not remember. Perhaps you do not call yourself?"

He drawled and said Lady Anne Daubene that he had told her of their last encounter.

"I am called Mr. Worth here," he said.

"Then, Mr. Worth, as you go straight back to London and America after you have seen these ruins, you may follow me, and I will take you round them."

CHAPTER XIV.

A Ghoulish Hand.

Within the Abbey gates was a broad lawn, with a trim lawn turf border, a hedge of yew trees.

Two gravel paths crossed the grass, leading right and left. Lady Anne took the one on the left, and as she did so, she saw in the new hedge and thicket, following her, found him self immediately in front of the ruins of Loder's Abbey.

A ghastly impression was of many mounds of different sizes and shapes, covered thickly by moss and long grass, and waving leaves. But, pressing on, he, with growing apprehension to the prevailing note of verdure, discovered the ancient stones peeping out beneath the close shrouding of foliage. Rectangular spaces in the grass became visible, bases of columns, the first slender shafts of windows, and spiral staircases, springing for no apparent purpose from the ivy roots, and winding upward six or seven flights, and so on.

She led him down among the broken masonry, the moss and bluebells, and the clusters of hartstongue and maidenhair, and began softly explaining to him the different portions of the great space of grass.

"This great space of grass was the refectory; you can still see the foundation of the stone pulpit from which the monks recited their daily psalms. Here are the kitchen, can you not see the great fireplace where the rose-bush is growing? I planted it in that corner, and last summer it was so large it had to be covered with yellow roses. Right across that space, if we go down by these steps, we come to the guest-chambers, and the lay brothers' quarters. I will show you other parts when we have time."

She walked a little before him. Her dark cloak was thrown back, and as she moved, lifting delicately her white hands from the damp stones, a small, made an arrow of her pale gold hair, blown out by the night breeze around her face, so that to Harry, she seemed like pictures he had seen of saints of innumerable beauty visiting the earth.

"Come down these three steps," she said, half turning towards him and holding out her hands, "they are very smooth. Now you are in the south transept of the church."

It was not a saint's hand that he touched for an instant, but the warm, sensitive hand of a living woman, though her fingers were higher than their heads, and in the shadows about their feet were yawning stone coffins.

"The Abbott's tombs were here," she said. "The monks' burying ground is a long way off."

Harry's thoughts flew to the sexton's story of the carp pond, in which Roger Clavet had been found.

"The world must be a bur- ground," the man had said, "and n'er a one goes there day nor night by reason that the place is haunted."

He thus made his way through the dark, narrow, winding, and tortuous paths of the ruined abbey, had given up his search, and was about to leave when he was seen to Harry, the proudest and the purest woman created. She wished him well, and the neighbour, probably because he had claimed the defected name of Clavet, and she evidently thought that by showing him the ruins she was hastening his departure.

"Will you tell me how old the place is?" he asked, speaking for the first time.

"The Abbey was founded in the twelfth century, and was the residence of the Clavet family. It was the greatest monastic establishment in the neighbourhood until, by infamous injustice, the monks were driven out, and the place was lying荒废—upon a Clavet's tomb."

"Are you of Dorsetshire, Lady Anne?"

"Certainly; did you not know? I have every stone, every old tree in the country. Here I stand, with a hand inside a wall, with her long, white fingers."

"An abbot's tomb, on the outer side of which you stand, is the outer wall of which, of course, described it of that. They tore this place to pieces a hundred years ago, and then had to bring in stones from miles away, their castle at Lythlington, and the castle and living house here out of the materials. But they have left enough stones to reconstruct, as you can see."

"I did not know that the small square chapel in which other mutilated tombs were lying, overgrown with brambles of small ivy, and with rose-tree branches?"

"The finest tomb is not here," she said, "in a little chapel which is joined to the house. It is there, where you can see a white cross on the roof."

He looked in the direction she indicated, and saw how a ruined line of chalices led to a stone building two stories high, in the Norman style, and covered with greenery. At the back was the little chapel of which she had spoken, half hidden by a thick hedge of brambles.

"The cloister court is my rose gar- den," she explained.

"I should like to see that most of all," he said quickly.

"You must first see the water ways," she returned.

The dreamy scene came upon the mind as she led him along a narrow path, which led him into a deep, dark, vaulted space, in which the light passed in ghostly quiet, and he saw to right and left of him long straight candlesticks where the trees to which they were anchored their branches in silent intercourses.

Sometimes, at this leafy season of the year, no light could pierce the gloom, and the shadows were as upon sheets of glass, and pausing near the edge it was possible to see the dead leaves of last year lying thick upon the stone floor.

Where the walls were formed three sides of a square, there was a rustic bridge. Lady Anne stood upon it. In silence for a moment, gazing down the water.

Suddenly Harry's heart seemed to contract with horror as he thought of her young life fading in this melancholy place.

"Lady Anne," he blurted out, "how can you live here? It is beautiful, but it is terrible."

"Not to me," she returned calmly. "The crimes and treacheries of living men and women are terrible, not dead men's memories."

"But—do you never even fancy you see ghosts of these old monks for instance, wandering about their former haunts?"

She remained silent for a few seconds, staring down into the water.

"Then she answered slowly:—

"I see no more than I wish to see." She let her hands fall into the pool, and pointed to more ruined walls.

Beyond them, Harry saw a large tree which appeared artificial, and which was closely surrounded by trees.

"A sort of storehouse of the monks where they believed I believe," Lady Anne said.

"I have no more to say about it all.

She turned to him again, and said,

"To be Continued."

SUPPLEMENTARY ESTIMATES HANDED DOWN IN COMMONS

Over Nineteen Million Dollars is Expenditure Proposed for the Dominion, Totaling With Main Estimates $169,000,000 for Fiscal Year.

Ottawa.—The supplementary estimates for the new fiscal year were laid on the table by Hon. W. T. White, minister of finance, amounting in all to $15,610,000. Of this amount, $13,672,526.80 is chargeable to consolidated fund, and $6,537,719.10 to capital account. For the encouragement of agriculture half a million dollars and for the improvement of highways a round million are proposed. The amount will have been fairly divided amongst the several provinces according to population. The subsidy for agriculture is divided as follows: Ontario, $175,362.22; Quebec, $142,482.45; Manitoba, $24,288.45; New Brunswick, $24,599.93; Prince Edward Island, $6,529.85; British Columbia, $1,761.60; Manitoba, $1,761.60; Saskatchewan, $24,288.45; Alberta, $26,094.95.

One million dollars for highways is divided as follows: Ontario, $351,466.64; Quebec, $278,964.80; Alberta, $52,189.50; British Columbia, $63,493.16; New Brunswick, $49,019.86; Nova Scotia, $68,576.90; Prince Edward Island, $13,057.70; Saskatchewan, $4,063.24. The amount proposed goes to spend no expense in pushing forward the Hudson Bay railroad is shown by the fact that there is a $1,000,000 in the estimates for the purchase of land, terminals and elevators. RUSHING WORK IN ROCKIES.

Believe G.T.P. Line Will be Built Sooner Than Expected.

Vancouver.—Remarkable progress is being made in the eastern British Columbia section of the Great Northern railway, which is being made by A. E. Griffin, a railway contractor, who arrived in Vancouver from the Yellowhead Pass district, Grand Forks, B.C., on May 1. The new line, now about along a grade to a point 140 miles west of the summit of the Rockies, and that the entire line west to Fort George will be completed by the end of July. Mr. Griffin predicts that the rails which are now laid to mile 28, west of the summit, will be extended by June to the first crossing of the Columbia,即 Fort George, and that the line through to the summit will be completed by the end of next year, many months earlier than was originally expected.

Dr. J. G. Rutherford Resigns.

Ottawa.—J. G. Rutherford, veterinarian-general for the Dominion, will take leave of office at the end of this week and go far north to be named as his successor. As however, it is almost imperative that the position should be filled immediately in view of the manifold duties which devolve upon the department during the seasons of immigration from the south, when heavy responsibility is incurred through the coming of many persons, it is not considered that a long period will elapse before Dr. Rutherford's successor has been named. Dr. McMillan of Winnipeg, Manitoba, has been engaged for the past few days conferring with Dr. Rutherford on certain matters requiring his advice in the west.

One additional vote of $500,000 is asked for the department of militia. Of this, $150,000 is required for general rifle ranges, and the purchase of ordnance, arms and equipment. A sum of $100,000 is also required for the purchase of stores, clothing and necessaries for $85,000.

NO FAITH IN CHINESE PREMIER

Four Powers Protest Against His Duplicity in Matter of Loan; Government Denies It.

Peking.—The British, American, French and German ministers called on President Yuan Shih Kai and presented to him a memorandum of protest against the action of the French in Shantung.

The ministers charge Tang had failed to notify to the representatives of the British, American, French and German syndicates the negotiations for the amounts consummated Belgian loan which were being carried on coincidentally with the negotiations between Tang and the four-power syndicate for an advance sufficient to meet Chinese needs.

This unusual question of the ministerial responsibility of Tang is being investigated by the Chinese government, who are reported to have confidence in the Chinese government so long as Tang remains premier.

RECORD PROSPERITY

Budget Statement in Newfoundland Shows Colony To Be Flourishing.

St. John's, Nfld.—Newfoundland is passing through a period of unequalled prosperity, as indicated by the statement presented to the legislature by the minister of finance. The fiscal year, which ended last June, showed a surplus of $170,000, and the year will equal if not exceed that, he said.

In the matter of import and export trade, there was an increase of more than 200 per cent, while the returns received for the same period of the last year by $150,000. These figures, when reported to the minister, indicated the high rate of business he expected that for the same period of the year would be equal if not exceed that, he said.

Heaviest Traffic in Years on C.P.R.

Toronto, Ont.—Settlers' traffic to the northwest of the city is at an all time record, while the traffic for mail has not been named as his successor. "Abolish the Bar."

Toronto.—Sir George Ross, former Premier of Ontario, wired to follow to the Star.

"Abolish the cordiality of decision of the Liberal party to abolish the bar. I favored this policy eight years ago.

The success of local option assures the wisdom of this decision."

RUSSIAN COLONY

Big Tract of Land Has Been Purchased at Tilley, Alta.

Calgary, Alta.—Tilley, Alberta, will shortly be the site of a farming colony of Russians. During the past few weeks, Russian emigrants in high standing at the court of the czar has been in Alberta and his visit has resulted in the purchase of an immense tract of land at Tilley. It is his intention to bring with him a number of Russians from his own estates in Russia to farm the property. Although his name is not the present title of the land, it is believed that the property has been made and will probably be only the first of a number of Russian noblemen who will be induced to come to Alberta during the summer for similar purposes.

The men who will be brought here will be expert farmers.

Will Advertise Regals.

Regina, Sask.—The recently formed real estate association is actively engaged in securing subscriptions for the fund of $15,000 to be expended on the erection of a hall for the intention of the association to work in conjunction with the board of trade.

A publicity commissioner will be engaged just as soon as possible.

It is understood that the full amount required has already been promised.

Goes to Westcott

The Westcott district has been enriched in its stock raising facilities during the last week by the addition of the fine purchased Clydesdale stallion "Aird Sensation" (15501), sire Rosalind, dam Labelle, which has just been purchased by Mr. Wm. McIntyre for use on his own farm and in the Westcott district.

This horse, which is four years old and weighs 1600 pounds, will do much to raise the standard of horses in the district as he comes of exceedingly good stock. His grand sire, Marcellus, is perhaps the best of the numerous noted sons of the champion "Hawthorn." Marcellus won first at Newton Stewart as a foal in 1898, third at Kilmarock, second at Glasgow, first at Stramer and Newton Stewart and second at Dumfries in 1909, besides several other championships, firsts and seconds, and in 1909 won first in the aged open class at the Glasgow stallion show and the Gloucestershire challenge shield. Aird Sensation's dam also comes of exceedingly good stock so that the descendants of these noted horses should prove a very valuable acquisition.

ELKTON ALSO GETS ONE
The fine Clydesdale horse "Crystal City" was sold this week to Mr. Alex. Mark of Elkton.

DIDS BURY IN LINE

The purchase of good horses for stock raising seems to be in the air these days in the Didsbury district. Besides the horses noted above Mr. Chris Stendahl has also bought the horse "Smalibholm's Pride" (15179), sire Timic, dam Zelie Wilson. This horse's grand sire was Baron's Charm by Baron's Pride, and full brother to the famous horse Benedict which was exported back from this country to Scotland and has had a district premium every year since.

Geo. Dolson, salesman for Graham Bros. of Manitoba, put all these sales through.

Aid to Thoroughbred Stallions

The policy initiated in 1911 by the Department of Agriculture with reference to the granting of aid, under certain conditions, to the owners of thoroughbred stallions is generally meeting with approval and in accomplishing, at least, the objects sought when the policy was undertaken. Among other things, owing to the rigid conditions imposed, it is encouraging those maintaining really high-class horses and is seeking to organize the system of breeding followed in the different communities where thoroughbred stallions are located. The stimulus given in this manner to the use of thoroughbred blood will, it is believed, lead to an improvement in the light horse stock of the country. Thoroughbred stallions, if really good individuals, may be expected to exert such an influence in the development of Canadian horses for saddle and harness use, as is greatly needed and greatly to be desired. The premium placed upon quality, soundness and progeny, through the grants awarded by the department is serving to check the use of unsuitable sires and is tending to conserve a type of thoroughbred, the utility of which is beyond question.

While, as perhaps should be stated, it is not the intention of the department to encourage the breeding of thoroughbred horses or to develop a type in light horses approximating closely to that of the thoroughbred, there is no question but that a strong infusion of thoroughbred blood in the light legged mares of the country will be of inestimable value in improving the quality of the stock given to them by stallions of the various light horse breeds.

Allowing himself to be justified, therefore, in fully presenting the policy begun last year, the Honourable Arthur Burrell, Minister of Agriculture, has authorized the continuance of the grants, to be available for all thoroughbred stallions standing for service during the season of 1912 which comply with the conditions imposed by the department.

The conditions under which assistance will be given are as follows:

(1) All horses on account of which must be given by the department must be registered in a thoroughbred stud book of the Canadian live stock records.

(2) Horses shall be of good size, quality and conformation and shall be free from all hereditary unsoundness;

these conditions to be gosured by submission annually to a thorough, careful examination either at the hands of the veterinary director general or such other members of the veterinary staff of the department, or other persons as the minister may from time to time appoint for this purpose.

(3) Horses so approved shall be duly and properly advertised to stand for service, under ordinary and general conditions, in the districts in which they are to be kept, at nominal service fee (except in case of thoroughbred mares) of not more than $10.00 to insure, such service fee to become due and payable only when mares prove to be in foal.

Any person, firm or corporation owning or controlling any thoroughbred stallion in regard to which all of the conditions above set forth shall have been duly and properly fulfilled, shall, on production of satisfactory evidence thereof and of the fact that a reasonable number of mares, other than thoroughbred mares, have been served during the season, be entitled to receive at the close of each such season the sum of $250 from the funds of the live stock branch. If, in the opinion of the minister, the breeding is incompetent for service during the season, an approved substitute is immediately placed in the same district, the minister may, after due consideration of the circumstances, authorize the payment of a smaller sum.

The necessary forms will be furnished on application to the veterinary director general and live stock commissioner, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

MANY HOMESTEADS OPEN FOR ENTRY ALONG THE C.N.R.

It is estimated that there are over 15,000 free homesteads open for entry in the three prairie provinces—Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. This means that over 25,000,000 acres are being given away for less than ten cents an acre. The entry fee for one acre is $1.00, and the $1.00 will mean that when all these homesteads are disposed of the government will have received $1,535,760 for twenty-five million acres of land. Of these homesteads, 118,134 are located adjacent to the Canadian Northern Railway, and 35,000 of them are within twenty miles of existing C.N.R. lines, making these lands within two or three miles of a railway service.

Full detailed information as to where these homesteads are and the size of the land and a general description of the country in which they are located, is given in a pamphlet recently issued by the Canadian Northern Railway.

The pamphlet is beautifully printed with three-color half tones, the cover representing a recently arrived immigrant looking away from the gate to his homestead. The town elevators are shown in the distance, silhouetted against the sunsetting in a blaze of red, green, and gold. Mr. MacDonald, the author of books and chaffers in the wagon behind him, and is starting his life anew, under the boughs of auspices.

The pamphlet also contains a map which shows in a general way the location of the homesteads in relation to the railway lines. A list of Government and Provincial offices, where entry for homesteads may be made, is included, making the pamphlet complete in every way.

Copies may be had from Mr. R. C. Goss, General Manager, Agent of the Canadian Northern Lines, in Winnipeg.

SPRING IMPURITIES IN THE BLOOD

A Tonic Medicine is a Necessity at This Season.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pate People are an all year round tonic, blood-builder and nerve-restorer. But they are especially valuable in the spring when the system is loaded with impurities as a result of the indoor life of the winter months. There is no other medicine that can be used in the spring in need of purifying and toning, and every dose of these pills helps to make new, rich, red blood. In the spring one feels weak and tired, but Dr. Williams' Pink Pills give strength. In the spring the appetite is often poor—Dr. Williams' Pink Pills develop the appetite, tone the stomach and rid the body of poisons. In the spring that poison in the blood find an outlet in disturbing pimples, eruptions, and boils—Dr. Williams' Pink Pills steadily cure the skin trouble that go to the root of the trouble in the blood. In the spring anemia, rheumatism, indigestion, neuralgic crystallites and many other trouble-making poisons are removed from the body. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are the most perfect tonic for a poor weak blood, and it is at this time when all nature takes on new life that that blood most seriously needs attention. Such people do themselves with purgatives at this season, but these only further weaken themselves. A purgative merely gallops through the system, emptying the bowels but it does not cure the thing. On the other hand Dr. Williams' Pink Pills actually make new blood which reaches every nerve and organ in the body, bringing new strength, new health, and vigor to weak, easily tired men, women and children. Try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills this spring—they will not disappoint you.

Sold by all medicine dealers or sent by mail in 50 cent boxes a six boxes for $2.50 by Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Rockville, Ohio.

Poverty helps government; for without government there would be no political parties and political parties could not exist without poverty, as they would be no more than a bunch of poor people.

Poverty is a good way to produce sentiment. If there were no poverty, sentiment would go begging. It would then have to be expended exclusively on the poor, the old, the sick, and, as a rule, they don't need it, even when they also need money.

Poverty is considered unnatural by the average man, and it is unnatural to him. Without poverty there would be nothing to live for, nobody to be sorry about, and no one to witness our comfort—Thomas L. Lippincott.
